

Transcend Communications announces the acquisition of Data Accessories.

Minneapolis, MN – June 19, 2006, Transcend Communications announced today that it has successfully acquired Data Accessories of Maple Grove, MN.

“This is a great strategic fit,” said Transcend Communications President, Todd Vojta. “Data Accessories’ history and experience provides Transcend Communications significant depth in its data infrastructure and VoIP offerings.” He also added that George Demou and Laurie Legus will be joining Transcend in executive leadership positions. Both George and Laurie have a deep background in business leadership, data network services and contact centers which will compliment Transcend’s existing team. “Like Transcend, Data Accessories is passionately focused on meeting the technology needs of business customers today. With their VoIP, Data Security and IP video offerings, Data Accessories has proven time and time again how to solve complex business problems through the strategic use of technology. It will be a great complimentary fit.”

“This combination will bring many new resources and solutions to our customers and provide exciting growth opportunities for our employees,” said George Demou, Data Accessories President. “Everyone is extremely enthused about the synergies between the two companies. Together, we really become a powerhouse in the enterprise IP Telephony space with a product offering and delivery mechanism second to none!”

The joining of Transcend Communications and Data Accessories continues to solidify Transcend’s market leadership in the upper Midwest area and increases its dedication to helping their clients increase their productivity, operational efficiency and profitability through the application of new technology.
